Taylor Lightning Protection

A message from Taylor Lightning Protection...

From our humble beginnings to becoming a leader in the industry, this journey has been nothing short of extraordinary. Fifty years ago, Taylor Lightning Protection started as a small regional provider, dedicated to safeguarding structures and lives from the unpredictable force of lightning. Over the decades, we have grown into a trusted name in lightning protection systems across Texas and throughout the Southeast.

Our success is built on a foundation of technical excellence, quality materials, and a deep commitment to safety. We have played a vital role in protecting everything from homes and schools to hospitals, airports, and industrial facilities. Our team of Master Installers ensures that every system meets rigorous certification standards, including those set by the Lightning Protection Institute (LPI), the National Fire Protection Association (NFPA), and the United Lightning Protection Association (ULPA).

As we celebrate this significant milestone, we reflect on the countless individuals who have believed in our vision and contributed to our success. Our dedicated employees, loyal customers, and supportive partners have all played an essential role in our journey. Their unwavering support and trust have enabled us to remain at the forefront of the industry by combining time-tested installation practices with modern engineering standards.

Looking to the future, our mission remains unchanged: to provide reliable, expertly engineered lightning protection systems that meet the highest standards of safety and performance. With 50 years of experience behind us and a forward-looking team leading the way, Taylor Lightning Protection is well-positioned to continue protecting what matters most for decades to come.
